

Department of Plant Pathology and Environmental Microbiology Graduate Student PPEM 590 Waiver Request

Weekly attendance at Departmental Seminar and participation in the Student Seminar training is a Plant Pathology graduate degree requirement for all resident students. Students are required to register for PPEM 590 each semester while in residence. Students not able to fulfill the PPEM 590 Colloquium/Seminar course requirement must complete and submit a PPEM 590 Waiver Request for each semester that he/or she cannot attend and participate in the course. This waiver request is for non-resident Plant Pathology graduate students who are not residing in the State College area, and for resident students registered for courses taught at times conflicting with the PPEM 590 scheduled time.
